Not Waving - Witzelsucht

Of unknown origins and destinations, trash is an omnipresent element in our geographies.

Samezoblo recently went on a hiking trip accroos, Georgia Turkey, Iraq, and Greece towards the Italian peninsula.

Our land is carpeted with trash to the point that it has become an essence of every corner urban or not in which we could lie our feet and eyes.

Our relationship with trash is problematic: current consumerist approaches create tons of by products that are of no immediate use other than unfulfilling decorations: one time experiences that accumulate waste upon waste.

Waste as an spectre of our thoughts and actions.

Waste as a cultural and geographical component.

Waste as an idea of the past, as a mirror of our present, and a void into our future.
